36 Steps on the Road to Medicare: How Saskatchewan Led the Way New Edition

Thursday, December 5 at 7:00 pm in the Travel Alcove

With an introduction by former Premier of Saskatchewan Roy Romanow

The co-operative spirit of citizens in twentieth-century Saskatchewan nurtured innovation in health care and health policy. 36 Steps on the Road to Medicare (McGill-Queen's University Press) showcases the decisions that led to the province's medicare system - the forerunner of Canadian health care.

Stuart Houston and Merle Massie document the range of Saskatchewan leadership on Canadian, North American, and world stages. They show how North America's first social-democratic government, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation - elected in 1944 and led by the incomparable Tommy Douglas - created the blueprint for comprehensive health care and how sequential steps on the road to medicare were implemented quickly and within budget. When federal support for national hospitalization became available, Saskatchewan could afford to initiate medicare in 1962. Other Canadian provinces soon followed Saskatchewan's lead. Updated to engage with current debates, 36 Steps on the Road to Medicare navigates the history of medicare and demonstrates the spirit of innovation that Canada will need to save it.

C. Stuart Houston, medical doctor, professor, naturalist, historian, and Officer of the Order of Canada, is the author or editor of numerous books, including To the Arctic by Canoe, 1819-1821, Arctic Ordeal: The Journal of John Richardson, Surgeon-Naturalist with Franklin, 1820-1822, Arctic Artist: The Journal and Paintings of George Back, Midshipman with Franklin, 1819-1822 and, with Bill Waiser, Tommy's Team: The People Behind the Douglas Years.

Merle Massie is a writer, editor, historian and farmer. She holds a SSHRC postdoctoral fellowship at the University of Ottawa.
